Course Description: World Literature I is a survey of world authors and their works, with emphasis on masterpieces from the Ancient, Medieval, and Renaissance periods of literature. The course includes the study of movements, schools, and periods.

Food and Drink: Food and drinks, including water are not allowed in the classroom at any time.

Program Outcomes: The knowledge and critical thinking skills acquired in the general education component enable students to analyze problems, to arrive at intelligent conclusions, and to make reasoned choices in their professional and personal lives. Many general education courses are designed to deal primarily with processes rather than simply with facts, to help students to develop individually and as members of a group and to instill in students the desire to develop intellectual and emotional skills through lifelong learning.

The general education curriculum provides the means by which students will accomplish the following outcomes:

Students will increase their

- writing, reading, speaking, and listening skills,

- understanding of different cultures and societies across the globe and how both have changed over time,
- technological and research skills.

ACTS Expected Student Learning Outcomes:
The student will demonstrate an advanced application of outcomes expected in ENGL1023.

- Respond appropriately to various rhetorical situations, purposes, and audiences.
- Use writing and reading for inquiry, learning, thinking, and communicating.
- Integrate original ideas with those of others
- Develop flexible strategies for generating, revising, editing, and proof-reading
- Use collaborative writing processes
- Demonstrate knowledge of structure, paragraphing, tone, mechanics, syntax, grammar, and documentation

Rationale: An objective of post-secondary education is to provide a core of knowledge that is shared with most educated people. By studying and developing a deeper understanding of the diverse writings that have influenced modern attitudes, institutions, and thought, students can better comprehend the world they live in today. In addition, they will be better able to communicate with other people with whom they come in contact.

Course Objectives, Outcomes, and Descriptions: Upon successful completion of World Literature I, the students should be able to do the following:

Course Outcomes:

1. Read and analyze selections of literature from various periods in history using critical thinking skills.
2. Write a clearly expressed, grammatically correct analytical literary essay following the standard five-paragraph essay structure in MLA format.
3. Recognize the influence of cultures and societies on literary selections.
4. Develop a familiarity with human thought by studying selections for the canon of literature, including the use of literary techniques, forms, and ideas.

Disclaimer: This course contains adult content. In the context of literature, we will read/discuss sex, rape, incest, murder, and multiple religions/philosophies. If the student is uncomfortable reading, listening, and/or participating in these discussions, perhaps another course would be more suitable.

Course Conduct: The student is to read, study, and discuss the course selections. This hybrid course is half online and half in class. Students must attend the in-class sessions each week and complete online assignments in Blackboard as assigned. Students may not use personal communication devices or outside websites during a class, quiz, or exam. Recording a class or reposting, copying, or distributing material found on Blackboard is expressly forbidden unless the instructor has given written permission.

Credit Hour Calculator: For every course credit hour, the typical student should expect to spend at least three clock hours per week of concentrated attention on course-related work, including but not limited to time attending class, as well as out-of-class time spent reading, reviewing, organizing notes, preparing for upcoming quizzes/ exams, problem solving, developing and completing projects, and other activities that enhance learning. Thus, for a three hour course, a typical student should expect to spend at least nine hours per week dedicated to the course.

Credit Hour Definition: A credit hour is an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks.

Course Requirements/Evaluations:

Cumulative grades are reflected by the following (percentages are approximations):

13 Weekly Quizzes ~25%
12 Weekly Journals ~15%
Two Term Papers ~24%
Midterm Exam ~18%
Final Exam ~18%

Quizzes & Journals: A quiz and journal over the stories, notes, and video lectures are due each week. If a student misses, then the student will receive a zero for that assignment unless the student has filed paperwork with the VP of Academic Affairs for a very serious reason only (death in the family, hospital emergency, etc.). It is the student's responsibility to initiate make-up work. Typically, missing an assignment results in an automatic zero for that assignment and cannot be reopened. Technology or lack of technology is not a valid excuse for not completing a test. At the end of the semester, I will drop each student's lowest quiz and journal grade.

Term Papers/Presentation: Over the course of the semester, students will write two term papers: a midterm and final. Both literary papers will have a minimum of 1000 words and use correct documentation and MLA formatting. The papers must follow the given prompt(s). Strict plot summaries or plagiarized material will result in a zero on the assignment and potentially cause the student to fail the course. The files must be in Word, or a Word compatible format, to be accepted for grading and submitted into Blackboard. If using Google Docs, the student is responsible for converting the file to a Word document and fixing any formatting errors before submitting in Blackboard. Papers must be submitted on time. No late papers are accepted.

Midterm and Final Exams: The comprehensive midterm and final exam must be taken in a proctored environment. It is the student's responsibility to make arrangements to take the exams on the Mena campus or by Zoom. If a student should miss either exam, the grade will be a zero. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that the scheduled time is free to take the exam.

Journals: Journal grades are mostly based on answering the prompt. Students will also be held accountable for grammar, punctuation, and correctly citing quoted and paraphrased material.

Late work will not be accepted unless there is an emergency situation. See above for the procedure.

The grading scale for this course is as follows:

A = 90-100%
B = 80-89%
C = 70-79%
D = 60-69%
F = Below 60%

Procedures/Student Requirements: Although an online class does not have regular attendance in the traditional sense, students are still expected to log into Blackboard at least twice a week and check emails at least 3-4 times a week. Keeping up with emails will be vital for each student's success in this course. Students who do not complete the first and/or second week of class will be removed from the course. All assignments must be submitted by the posted due date unless specific arrangements have been made with the instructor. It is the student's responsibility to initiate those arrangements immediately. The instructor also reserves the right to require students to come on campus for all tests or presentations.

Missing an excessive number of classes is detrimental to the success of students in this course causing them to fall behind. Three absences in a class that meets two times a week is excessive. Students who do not attend class may receive a grade of NF which can negatively affect financial aid.

Academic Dishonesty: Cheating or plagiarizing on a test or assignment is not tolerated.

Some types of plagiarism (not a complete list):

- Submitting someone else's work as your own (includes paraphrasing)
- Sharing assignments/answers with other students (both receive a zero)

- Skimming information off of the internet without correctly citing sources

Consequences of plagiarism:

- 1st offense of plagiarism:
  - Less than 10% of an assignment plagiarized → proportional grade deduction on assignment
  - 10% or more of an assignment plagiarized → automatic zero on the assignment
- 2nd offense of plagiarism → removal from the course with a W

Consult College Handbook for more information. If you ever have any questions about plagiarism or how to document a source, please ask me. I want you to avoid plagiarism, too.
