Description of Assignments

13 Chapter quizzes in Blackboard X 10 points per quiz (drop the lowest)

You will earn points for these chapter quizzes, but you will also use these as a study guide for corresponding tests. There is a deadline for completion in Blackboard, once the deadline is over the student will not be able to receive credit for the closed assignment. Each quiz has a study guide located in Blackboard. Quiz material may also come from lecture or other media.

American Theatre Magazine assignment (Aug. 26)

Students will be given a link or handout from an American Theatre article and will spend about 15 minutes in class on August 26 answering short essay questions.

Acting Scenes (Sep. 30 & Oct. 7)

In Blackboard there are acting scenes for the assignment. The student will find a partner and have about seven weeks from the beginning of classes to prepare the scene. The finished scene will be between 2-3 minutes in length, the scene that does not go this long will receive the grade of "F". Students should find a partner they can rely on, and, also have common time to work on the scene. September 14 is the last day to change partners, and/or to blame the partner for nothing being completed. We will have a lottery on Sep. 16 to draw performance dates. Students that have conflict with one or both dates may have to perform the scene on an earlier date. If you choose not to work on the acting scene with a partner, you have the choice of doing a 1 minute and 45 second soliloquy/monologue from Shakespeare, you will find this piece and get it approved before the due date. There is a sign-up in Blackboard for the names of the partners and the scene. Here are the criteria: all work is memorized, strong sense of character, understanding of what the character wants (goals), understanding the relationship between the two characters, good concentration, good volume and strong projection, physical movement is tied with character, apparent the work has been rehearsed, use of props when called for.

Four exams worth 75 points per test. Please bring you laptop and be able to access Blackboard. Tests will be taken during class time, in class. No notes, books, or devices.

Seven Play Quizzes at 40 points per quiz

*Play Quizzes The plays on this list will either be read by the student, or the student will view a DVD or YouTube in class or outside of a class. Most importantly, be familiar with the material. The student can find these plays in one or more of the following ways: Online search, e-books through college library, video, purchase online, hardcopy in library or Blackboard, link from Blackboard. If you have to miss a play quiz let me know on the day of the quiz or before.
