Q15	Any additional comments about the course or instruction.	Total: 4

The course was confusing due to watching videos for the lessons that were 1 to 3 years old. Not a lot of communication besides email and a chat box.

Obviously it is difficult to teach and learn a math class that is online, but I do think there are ways to improve. There should be more communication with Mr. Maxwell, it really felt like we were completely on our own during this course and there was very little help offered from him. If I hadn't used resources I have on my high school campus I do not think I would be passing this class just based off of the work Maxwell put in. I do think he wants his students to pass his course and he definitely gave us some breaks when it came to the intensity of tests, but there should be more communication and feedback from him.

- Need updated videos and course work (i.e. videos now are from 2020; they should be updated to the current date)
- Teach the class what they are asked to do in homework assignments

Learning through blackboard made it difficult to fully understand the topics.

Instructions for homework and classwork was understandable but asking questions was difficult. The communication was hard at times especially when the homework was the relevant topic. Some questions would go unanswered and some addressed but in a mildly confusing manner. The videos were informational but were older which caused some confusion over the homework. Some of the questions were left up to the students to answer and help each other which was harder since students teaching students makes it hard to learn topics.
